On The Same Night, Los Tigres Played To A Sold-Out Crowd At The Famed San Antonio Rodeo:

"Tales of outlaws and smugglers were mixed with hopeful songs about the immigrant life in America when Los Tigres del Norte took the AT&T Center stage at 10:10 p.m. Sunday. Dressed in shiny black outfits with glittering silver trim, Los Tigres were smiling broadly when they kicked off their show with 'Rumbo Al Sur,' from their forthcoming CD 'Raices.' They had plenty of reason to smile — they had just got the news that they won a Grammy in the best norteno CD category. Other tunes that got the crowd cheering wildly included the band's corrido classics 'Jefes de Jefes' and 'De Pacas de a Kilo' and the ballad 'Directo al Corazon.' It was impressive to see a full house when Los Tigres kicked off their show, considering it was late Sunday night. The fans seemed to radiate a sense of pride that their heroes were performing on the same rodeo stage as the top American country superstars." – San Antonio Express News
